About the workshop

The goal of the workshop is to foster the understanding of the role of FDI and multinationals in the world economy from a multi-disciplinary perspective. Submissions on interactions with politics, institutions, distributional aspects, global value chains, and international management perspectives are particularly welcome. Furthermore, our aim is to support the exchange of ideas between researchers at various stages of their career. Early-stage researchers with diverse backgrounds are hence particularly encouraged to apply.

The workshop is jointly organized by Konstantin M. Wacker (University of Groningen), Philipp Harms (University of Mainz), and Nils Steiner (University of Mainz).
